

YOUR INSTRUCTORS

Harold J. Steudel, Ph.D., P.E., is Managing Partner of Steudel and Mann, LLC (formerly H.J. Steudel and Associates, Inc.), an international consulting firm established in 1974 to provide services and products to assist organizations in achieving quality and productivity improvement. Dr. Steudel draws on over 30 years of consulting and management experience in implementing leading-edge techniques in Strategic Leadership, Quick Response Manufacturing, Total Quality, and Management Systems based on international standards such as ISO 9001, ISO 16485, and ISO 14001. He has provided innovative methods and guidance on implementing change in over 500 organizations, and developed numerous assessment tools, guidelines, and other quality systems elements for both Malcolm Baldrige and ISO 9001. Harry is also the Chairman of the Department of Industrial and Systems Engineering at the University of Wisconsin-Madison and holds the title of Emerson Electric Professor in Total Quality. Harry has served as a certified quality systems lead auditor under the Registrar Accreditation Board (RAB) and as a senior examiner for the Wisconsin Forward Award to recognize World Class Excellence.

Terry Mann, ASQ CQA and RABQSA Provisional Quality Management System Auditor, Partner of Steudel and Mann, LLC, is active in assisting companies in the implementation of ISO 9000 quality management systems and ISO 14000 environmental management systems through his consulting, training, and documentation development support. Terry is also an instructor and speaks on quality and engineering-related topics, including ISO Standards, Six Sigma, operations management, statistical process control, cellular manufacturing, facilities layout, and measurement systems analysis for the University of Wisconsin-Madison. He holds a B.S. degree in industrial engineering and an M.S. degree in manufacturing systems engineering (Magna Cum Laude) from the University of Wisconsin-Madison.
